

I Threw Some Rocks

I threw some rocks up at your window
They barely made a dent
I spoke some softer words
But they flew over your head
I tried a boulder next
And broke your window through
I meant to aim a little higher
Not to graze your shoe
I threw some little pebbles next
With just the perfect aim
But exhaustion tamed my efforts -
You were only entertained.